

LECTURER IN AFRICAN MUSIC

South African College of Music

Faculty of Humanities

As one of the largest and most diversified tertiary music institutions in South Africa, the South African College of Music pursues a wide range of musical activities. Besides ethnomusicology, music technology and music education, there is a strong practical tradition in the field of African and world music, as well as very active departments in jazz, western classical performance, musicology, composition, and a flourishing opera school.

We are seeking to appoint on 1 February 2022, or soon thereafter, a well-qualified African music specialist with an emerging track record in teaching, research and publication. The successful applicant will form part of a team of ethnomusicologists and African music practitioners dedicated to the teaching of all aspects of the theory and practice of African and World music at undergraduate level and the supervision of postgraduate work.

Requirements:

- MMus in ethnomusicology and registration for PhD;
- An emerging record of creative outputs and/or publications as reflected in peer-reviewed articles and chapters in books;
- A track record of excellence in undergraduate teaching

Responsibilities:

- Teaching of undergraduate and postgraduate theoretical courses in the field of African music, including African Music Theory, African Aural Training and Advanced Transcription Methods;
- Teaching of undergraduate practical ensemble courses in the field of African music;
- Postgraduate supervision in ethnomusicology;
- Administrative duties.
