

SENIOR LECTURER/ LECTURER

DEPARTMENT OF ARCHAEOLOGY

FACULTY OF SCIENCE

We invite applications for the above post from suitably qualified people, for appointment as soon as possible.

We seek an archaeologist with a research programme that will strengthen the departmental focus on stable light isotopes. The Department of Archaeology houses the University's stable light isotope laboratory (see www.archaeology.uct.ac.za/age/facilities/stable-light-isotope-laboratory . For additional facilities see www.science.uct.ac.za/sci/research/facilities). The successful candidate should add to the existing strengths of the Department and be able to contribute to its teaching programme. He/she will have a research programme in southern Africa, or be willing to develop a programme in this region.

Requirements include:

- A PhD in the discipline of Archaeology or a cognate discipline
- An appropriate level of university teaching experience, relative to the rank applied
- A record of research productivity and publication, relative to the rank applied

Relevant postdoctoral experience will be an advantage

Responsibilities include:

- Teaching and developing undergraduate as well as postgraduate courses in the Department
- Recruiting and supervising honours, master's and doctoral students
- Pursuing an active research program and raising required funding
- Course convening, departmental and faculty administrative duties

The annual costs of employment, including benefits for 2018 at the respective levels are as follows:

- Lecturer: R639 848
- Senior Lecturer: R786 717
